For educators who...

- understand the imperative of sustainability education and are transforming their lifestyles, classrooms and work environments.
- want to make learning more real, relevant and revolutionary for their students and colleagues
- are hungry for more insight and inspiration and have good news stories to share from their workplace
- want to meet others who are expanding the reach of sustainability education in their home and work communities

One of the best professional development weekends of the year... and here's why!

- An effective networking opportunity with other 'like minded' educators
- Connection with cutting edge curricula
- A focus on success stories and inspirational testimonials from the 'field'
- Located in a beautiful island setting with great outdoor and indoor 'classrooms'
- Provision of ready to use learning resources that engage and motivate
- A fun-filled weekend with heaps of music, theatre and story-telling
- Childcare opportunities that make your involvement possible

Celebrating 14 years of Sustainability Education
On Keats and Gambier Islands, Sunshine Coast
